

COUGHS. Do not neglect a Cough or Cold, as these are often dangerous. Foley's Honey and Tar is pleasant, safe and sure cure. Contains no opiates and is guaranteed.	ASTHMA. Foley's Honey and Tar is guaranteed to give prompt relief in all cases of Asthma. Do not class this with other medicines that have failed to give you relief.
CONSUMPTION. Foley's Honey and Tar does not hold out false hopes in advanced stages, but claims to give relief in the very worst cases, and in early stages to effect a cure.	LA CRIPPE. If you have had the Grip you probably need a reliable medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar to limit your lungs and stop the racking cough incidental to this disease.
CROUP. Thousands of infants and children die yearly of Croup, every one of these innocents could have been saved had Foley's Honey and Tar been given them in time.	PNEUMONIA. Dr. J. C. Bishop, of Alpena, Mich., says: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of Pneumonia the past month, with good results."

PLEASANT STREET.

Oct. 3.—The most important event of the week was the marriage last Thursday in Elyria of Miss Elsie Edwards, one of Pleasant Street's popular young ladies, to E. W. Cole, Brighton's enterprising young blacksmith. V. W. Burge conveyed the happy couple to and from Elyria on their wedding day. The following evening their friends favored them with the time honored "horning bee." It took some time and a large amount of noise to arouse them from their peaceful slumber. The happy couple will live in Mr. Gill's house in Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason Gillett started Monday for a visit with their daughter in Fostoria.

October 3—More wedding bells in Sullivan this week.

First literary of this year commanded the attention of the teachers and pupils last Friday.

The young people intend giving Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horseman a farewell surprise party Tuesday evening. Mr. Houseman has bought the ten cent barn and other property of Mr. A. F. Smalley and will leave the home farm and take possession of his new home this week. We are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Houseman from our community but we will all wish them well. What is our loss is Ashland's gain.

Mrs. Hattie M. Park, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks is slightly better.

Fire destroyed the Elliott Mann house last Thursday. The porch caught fire from some coals carried out to open a fruit can and the wind was blowing such a fearful gale. There was nothing could be done but save what household furniture was handiest. Mr. Jamie Mann's library which was upstairs was all burned, over a thousand dollars worth of books. The property was insured with a light insurance, but Mr. Mann's loss will be quite heavy.

Mrs. Jennie Mann, son and daughter are in Bucyrus visiting.

Mr. Geo. McConnell and son, who have been very sick with sick stomach or milk sickness are slightly better.

Mr. Chas. Daniels, of Winona, Wis., who has been visiting Eaton Brothers returned to his home last Friday.

Geo. Dagnan's team got scared while he was driving them on the milk wagon, throwing him to the ground, breaking his arm. Dr. Gregg, of Wellington was called. The fracture is doing nicely.

NO USE TRYING

I can't take plain cod-liver oil. Doctor says, try it. He might as well tell me to melt lard or butter and try to take them. It is too rich and will upset the stomach. But you can take milk or cream, so you can take

Scott's Emulsion

It is like cream; but will feed and nourish when cream will not. Babies and children will thrive and grow fat on it when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day when taking an ounce of Scott's Emulsion. It gets the digestive machinery in working order so that the ordinary food is properly digested and assimilated.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

THE RICHEST NATION

UNCLE SAM'S GREAT AND GROWING STOCK OF GOLD.

Proof of the Falsity of Democratic Free Silver Arguments Found in the Present Prosperity of the People of the American Nation.

During the free silver campaign of 1896 Bryan and his party orators unanimously declared that the reason for the fearful stagnation of business was the lack of money. They charged that the continuance of the gold standard would not only prolong the money stringency, but increase it, until the whole country would be absolutely ruined.

On the other hand, the Republican party and William McKinley told the people there was money enough in the country, but it was lying idle, the tariff-for-revenue-only policy having discriminated against our farmers, wage earners, manufacturers and merchants, so that little work was being done, hundreds of thousands of wageless men were living on credit, and capitalists were fearful of investing because of the movement towards the dishonest financial policy of free silver.

As soon as William McKinley, the champion of American industries, was elected, and Bryanism repudiated, the country took on, as it were, new life, proving truth of Republican promises. Fires were kindled, machinery set in motion, wage earners employed, farmers received good prices for their products, money sought investments, new factories were erected, and when the Dingley tariff went into effect, general prosperity with beaming countenance, went marching throughout our great country. There is plenty of money in the country to do business now that the country has the business to do.

The Democratic party has only itself to blame for the deep seated conviction in the minds of the American people that as political guides it is unreliable and dangerous.

Figures as a rule are uninteresting, but the following, showing how financially rich Uncle Sam has grown to be in the last three years appeal to every patriot. Uncle Sam has more gold today than any nation in the world and his stock is increasing at a marvelous rate. The gold in the respective leading countries is:

United States .....	$1,000,000,000
France .....	810,000,000
Russia .....	750,000,000
Germany .....	668,500,000
United Kingdom .....	438,000,000

GAIN IN THE UNITED STATES.
1873 .....	$135,000,000
1880 .....	352,000,000
1890 .....	695,000,000
1893 .....	538,000,000
June 30, 1897 .....	696,000,000
June 1, 1899 .....	1,000,000,000

George E. Roberts, director of the mint, says that the United States is the first nation to reach the million dollar mark. He says that on June 1 the gold coin in the United States amounted to $563,741,252, while the bullion in the national treasuries aggregated $121,742,352. This makes a total of $685,483,604. Experiences the past three years have conclusively proved the correctness of the Republican tariff and financial policies.

THE SILVER MONSTER AND M'LEAN.

If anybody believes the great Republican victory of 1896 settled the money question and established sound finance beyond the cavil of the free silver trust, he is only to read the first pack of the McLean platform adopted at Zanesville to be assured of his mistake.

Weight each word and see how emphatically it declares for a step backward. It is as follows:

First. We heartily reaffirm the anti-Chicago platform of 1896; and we especially emphasize the financial plank therein, and we continue to demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold as equal primary money at the rate of 16 to 1, independent of all other nations in the world.

Mr. Bryan said in his Des Moines speech:

"We lost the last campaign because we lacked the foreign vote. They didn't understand the silver issue. But they will understand what a standing army means. They know what expansion and imperialism mean, and will vote against them. They will understand these things better than the native Americans themselves, and on such issues we can win."

This remarkable statement is in direct contrast to the utterances of Mr. Bryan in 1896 when he declared he would go down to death with free silver. We did not look for such a confession from him. We hardly thought he would go so far as to openly insult the intelligent foreign born voter. As to expansion, its loudest opponents are Americans of the mugwort order. The foreign born citizens have had little to say about it, and Bryan will be fooled again.

The brass bands at Zanesville tormented John R. McLean by playing "If You Ain't Got No Money, You Needn't Come Around." He prefers the song, "Mammy, Let Me Bring My Cio's Back Home."

Ohio is one of the states where the calamity cry was most helpful to the combination of Bryan and 16 to 1 in 1896. What can the Democrats hope for with the calamity howlers voiceless?

July failures in the United States amounted to $4,872,197, and the aggregate of liabilities was about one-half as big as in July, 1898. More of the fruits of "McKinleyism."

"If I were you, I wouldn't lean against that post. You might get hurt."

The speaker was a policeman, and the person to whom his words were addressed was a young fellow who stood under an iron awning with one hand resting on an iron post which helped to support the awning. The young man jerked his hand away quickly.

"What's the matter with the post?" he asked. "It looks all right."

"Yes, it does," responded the policeman, "and it may be all right. But it's iron, and its surface is wet from the rain that is falling. There are a whole lot of telephone and telegraph wires in the vicinity. One of them may be mixed up with an electric light wire somewhere and may also be rubbing up against some part of this awning. Understand? If it should be, the combination would be one that, with the water that is running down the post as a conductor, would be apt to put you out of existence. I've seen one man killed in just that way, and I really don't want to see another. That's all. Goodbye."

Then the policeman walked off down the street, leaving the young fellow staring first at the post and then at the wires overhead. But as long as the saunterer remained under the awning he kept his hands away from the wet iron.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Not Wanting a Job.

When the late W. E. Gladstone was chancellor of the exchequer, one day he was in the shipping department of the government office getting some information and figures for the coming budget. While thus engaged a Sunderland shipowner called to see Mr. Lindsey, the then member for Sunderland.

While waiting for Mr. Lindsey to come in the shipowner got his eye on Mr. Gladstone and was watching him closely. After doing so a little while he thus addressed him:

"Thou seemst a good writer and clever at figures. I'll give thee £100 a year, and that's an offer thou'll not get every day!"

Mr. Gladstone thanked him and said he would see Mr. Lindsey.

Just then Mr. Lindsey entered. Then Mr. Gladstone told Mr. Lindsey of the offer his friend had made him.

Mr. Lindsey said it was a very good offer, but he did not know if Mr. Gladstone could be spared. Anyway he had better introduce them. Turning to his friend, the shipowner, he said: "Allow me to introduce you to W. E. Gladstone, chancellor of the exchequer—Mr. So-and-so, Sunderland." The amazement of the shipowner cannot be described. The Grand Old Man laughed immoderately.—London Answers.

Willing to Compromise.

About the middle of the civil war a freshly appointed colonel, with a newly enlisted regiment, joined the Union forces in the far south. One bright October morning word was received that a small detachment of General Wheeler's cavalrymen was on the other side of the hill, and a force started out in pursuit. The next day the Confederates were reported miles distant in the opposite direction. The third day the new colonel and a veteran brigadier started out for a pleasure ride. A mile from camp they rode into the fugitive Confederates, who had been circling the camp for a week. It was a narrow escape, but they got away unharmed.
